

biography

Mario D'Angelo was born in Trapani, Sicily, in 1975. In 1994 he moved to Rome where he studied Anthropology at the Faculty of Sociology at the University of Rome "La Sapienza". In 1999 he studied photojournalism with Rolando Fava (Ansa - leading news agency in Italy and among the leaders in the world) at the Graffiti-Press agency in Rome and in 2004 with Paolo Pellegrin (Magnum) at the TPW. In 2008 he attended the School of Visual Ethnography at the Istituto Superiore di Fotografia e Comunicazione Integrata in Rome.

Since 2001 he has collaborated as a set photographer with the Teatro Stabile in Florence, the Stabile in Bolzano, with the Teatro di Roma, with the Cooperativa Teatrale Dioniso, The International Academy of Butoh and the Compagnia Essepa in Palermo. And, among the others, he collaborated with the directors Marco Bellocchio, Valerio Binasco, Fausto Paravidino, Alessandro Benvenuti, Claudio Collovà and the choreographers Shantala Shivalingappa, Sayoko Onishi and Alessandra Luberti, being published by the major national newspapers and magazines in the field.

Together with Fausto Paravidino, he worked at the short film "Articolo 28" of the RAI feature film "All Human Rights for All" produced under the patronage of the United Nations, directing the photography and the editing.

In his artistic research he investigates anthropological, social, environment and identity-related topics through photography, video and new technologies.

When he goes sailing, he takes care of the storeroom and commits himself to staring at the sea.
